

transition support program

Watching your child transition into adulthood can be a challenging, yet exciting time as a parent. It is common to experience mixed emotions as you prepare for the next step of your child's journey.

If your child is between the ages of 15 to 18, the Transition Support Program is here to guide and support you through this journey. Parents are invited to join the discussion and access resources to assist you and your child with their transition into adulthood.

We will explore topics such as:

- Adult services that are available after school
- Transitioning from a children's hospital to an adult hospital
- Proof of age cards, and how to organise one
- Centrelink changes when a child turns 16
- Tax file number
- Power of Attorney vs Guardianship.
